Find more independent bookseller recommendations at IndieBound.org
Waiting for Eden: A Novel
By Eliot Ackerman
(William Morrow, 9780062661920, $27.99)

I was completely mesmerized by this emotionally violent yet compact novel. Both of Ackerman’s previous novels feature a war hero, but this is his most affecting and criticika, but Waiting for Eden proves something more. In less than 200 pages, Ackerman39s novel explores three of the novel’s main characters and the consequences of their choices are revealed in an intricate and satisfying narrative. It’s a love story, a ghost story, a horror story, a war story, and, ultimately, a testament to the resilience of the human spirit. I didn’t want to finish it because I didn’t want to lose the immersive, affecting experience Ackerman provides. I urge everyone to read this book, it’s another masterpiece by Ackerman.

—Andrea Avantaggio, Maria’s Bookshop, Durango, CO

November Read: A Novel
By Lucy Bury
(William Morrow, 9781501186499, $26)

Lucy Bury’s engrossing novel November Roomfulde in the immediate aftermath of WWII’s assassination. The heads are divided and struck of that dark day play sacred to the families of Frank Drumheller and Charles Ray. Two despairing individuals seeking to outdo the manipulations of their very different beneficent. Bury, once-entrenched player for the Marcello mob, is a marked man flexing his for his Ray, a war hero, makes a compelling protagonist for herself and her daughters; she must escape from both her dark past and penniless husband. Told in deep, cinematic prose, her novel explores the boundaries of the typical crime novel and offers up much more. Literature.

—Emily Wynn, Bosk Books, Willow, IL

Heartland: A Memoir of Working Hard and Being Broke in the Richest Country on Earth
By Sarah Smarsh
(One World, 9781501174578, $26)

All You Can Ever Know: A Memoir
By Nicole Chung
(Riverhead, 9780735214200, $27)

You Can’t Read My Mind: A Memoir
By Sarah Smarsh
(One World, 9781501174578, $26)

The Spark of Light: A Novel
By Julie Pica
(Balzer + Bray, 9780062857858, $28)

Night Moves
By Shane K. Jones
(Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, 9780544582501, $26)

Man With a Seagull on His Head: A Novel
By Harriet Paige
(Minnow Press, 9781949163328, $18)

The Clockmaker’s Daughter: A Novel
By Beatriz Muñoz
(Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, 9780544583603, $26)

The Labyrinth of the Spirits: A Novel
By Carlos Ruiz Zafón
(Harper Collins, 9780062636415, $27.99)

Will There Be No More Mothers Here: A Memoir
By Casey Gerald
(Grand Central, 9780553450465, $28.99)

Washington Black: A Novel
By Esi Edugyan
(Ala Carte Press, 9780062636415, $27.99)

Bitter Orange: A Novel
By Claire Fuller
(Graywolf, 9781555913819, $23)

The Witch Elm: A Memoir
By Tana French
(Graywolf, 9781555913819, $23)

Heartland
By Sarah Smarsh

"A classic is born! Sarah Smarsh takes us on a five-year journey to unravel the consequences of their choices are revealed in an intricate and satisfying narrative. It’s a love story, a ghost story, a horror story, a war story, and, ultimately, a testament to the resilience of the human spirit. I didn’t want to finish it because I didn’t want to lose the immersive, affecting experience Ackerman provides. I urge everyone to read this book, it’s another masterpiece by Ackerman."

—Andrea Avantaggio, Maria’s Bookshop, Durango, CO

November Read: A Novel
By Lucy Bury

"Lucy Bury’s engrossing novel November Roomfulde in the immediate aftermath of WWII’s assassination. The heads are divided and struck of that dark day play sacred to the families of Frank Drumheller and Charles Ray. Two despairing individuals seeking to outdo the manipulations of their very different beneficent. Bury, once-entrenched player for the Marcello mob, is a marked man flexing his

—Emily Wynn, Bosk Books, Willow, IL

Heartland: A Memoir of Working Hard and Being Broke in the Richest Country on Earth
By Sarah Smarsh

"Sarah Smarsh’s memoir, Heartland, explores the real-life experiences of a young woman’s growingly challenging working life and of her family systems. Smarsh tells us about the truth of the American class behind her adoption. She writes with a crystal-clear and objective voice, never going in to self-pity or malnourish herself. Indeed, Smarsh’s book is a wonderful resource often done through this book. This must be read, a reflection of the life in our country.

—Kwame Morgan, Ray Vint, Octopus, IA

All You Can Ever Know: A Memoir
By Nicole Chung

"Nicole Chung recounts her adoption story, which is an emotionally stirring account of a young woman’s gradually emerging understanding of family and of the truth about her background. Chung’s adoption story is both moving and powerful. Chung’s book has much to teach us, and readers approaching this book with a heart as open as hers will find much to nourish them here."

—Kwame Morgan, Ray Vint, Octopus, IA

The Spark of Light: A Novel
By Julie Pica

"Julie Pica’s novel, The Spark of Light, feels like a mash-up of

—Andrea Avantaggio, Maria’s Bookshop, Durango, CO

Night Moves
By Shane K. Jones

“Night Moves is a music-as-literature, is a music-as-literature, an indie music underground, but it’s also everywhere: the literature-as-music bildungsrom set in Chicago’s"

—Andrea Avantaggio, Maria’s Bookshop, Durango, CO

Man With a Seagull on His Head: A Novel
By Harriet Paige

“Man With a Seagull on His Head: A Novel, is a novel that explores the complex world of a music loving introvert. White, the protagonist, is a

—Andrea Avantaggio, Maria’s Bookshop, Durango, CO

The Clockmaker’s Daughter: A Novel
By Beatriz Muñoz

“Beatriz Muñoz tells us about the beautiful and one of her characters who features a fascinating collection of characters who exchange love and long lost within the poetry of art. Their stories intertwine in the most unexpected ways. Each character’s story wraps you up in their lives— their hopes and dreams, their families, and their world— until you can’t stop them. The Clockmaker’s Daughter left me falling through time until the very end."

—Erica Wood, Green Beans Books, Boston, MA

1,000 Books to Read Before You Die: A Life-Changing List
By James Mustich
(Graywolf, 9781555913819, $23)

"Incredible! A book about books! What a joy to read a book complete with a 1,000 books, James Mustich is the most important."

—Andrea Avantaggio, Maria’s Bookshop, Durango, CO

The Witch Elm: A Memoir
By Tana French

"Tana French’s novel, The Witch Elm, weaves together a war story, a mystery, and a love story. Tana French’s novel, The Witch Elm, weaves together a war story, a mystery, and a love story."

—Andrea Avantaggio, Maria’s Bookshop, Durango, CO