Dear Edward
By Ann Napolitano
(Try the Buzz, 9789885664703, $15.99)
A stunning portrayal of what it means to be a survivor and the fine lines between surviving and actually living. I was so moved from the forward momentum of your story. Dear Edward is a novel that pierces you to the core with its depiction of grief, guilt, loneliness, and despair, but through glimmers of hope, friendship, and kindness, shows how Edward slowly remends.
—Maxwell Gregory, Lake Forest Book Store, Lake Forest, IL

Long Bright River: A Novel
By Liza competitive to suspense-loving readers on either side of the political spectrum!”

Deep State: A Thriller
By Chris Harlin
(One Daily Accent, 9780999439309, $18.99)
“Deep State is a compelling page-turner with an unpredictable but masterful twist that will knock you off your feet. Harlin skillfully weaves a tight web of intrigue with an eye on doing more service to their country. In truth matched

Kingdomite: A Novel
By Carima Brown
(Cephyr Books and Cinnamon, 9781669716501, $25)
“Original, fresh, and authentic. As an sou first for Kingdomlites, I wanted to read it the novel. This book had me from the prologue, when its main character, Miss, makes the wrong decision and has to face the consequences it causes. From the first page, when the murder mystery floats in and out of her life. As readers experience Evie’s heightened understanding of the power dynamics at play. If

You Were There Too: A Novel
By Collen Oakley
(Jones, 9780762467195, $28.95)
“"This story's power comes not just from its beautiful writing but the reality of its characters and the incisive nature of its setting. Liz Moore has created a masterpiece—so subtle that I can’t really figure out how she achieves these literary sleights of hand with such consistency: a one part magical realism here, a dash of unameded honesty there, stir in some gallows humor, and serve chilled.”
—Tam Law, A Room on One’s Own Bookstores, Madison, WI

The Magic Language of Others: A Memoir
By E. L. Koh
(Two Books, 9781982137735, $25)
“While writing this memoir of history, culture, past, and present—this might be one of the best books I’ve read in a long time. I was so moved by it.”
—Samantha Berkovit, Newtonville Books, Newton Centre, MA

Uncanny Valley: A Memoir
By Anna Wintour
(Henry Holt, 9780805095070, $28.99)
“There is so much to admire in this story of a woman’s perspective that really does a great job of weaving a series of complex events with the consequences of what it’s to come. ”Just beautiful!”
—Gayle Lovvorn, Noteworthy Bookstore, Stamford, TX

At Midnight, Everything
By Garth Greenwell
(Algonquin Books, 9781616208592, $25.95)
“Cleanness is a novel that invokes the senses most often left to the side in fiction: touch, taste, and smell. This imagery is unique in how Evie, our narrator, perceives the world once she’s been through the events outlined in this book. A must-read for movie/TV rights, depression, failure, and, yes, even success.”
—Keith Glaeske, East City Bookshop, Washington, DC

Creatures: A Novel
By Grady Van Meter
(Taplinger Books, 9780393066351, $35)
“Creatures is a novel that involves the senses most often left to the side in fiction: touch, taste, and smell. This imagery is unique in how Evie, our narrator, perceives the world once she’s been through the events outlined in this book. A must-read for movie/TV rights, depression, failure, and, yes, even success.”
—Susan Johnson, McNally Jackson Williamsburg, Brooklyn, NY

The Vanished Birds: A Novel
By Simon Jappsen
(Dial, 9780735230601, $28)
“Jappsen’s voice is strong and true in a way that I know can only be attributed to masterful storytelling. In The Vanished Birds, Earth becomes unhomely and humanized in confronting space. It comes to some of our best characters, and the characters who have lost their umbilical cord to this Earth, find a way to hold on to each other. Their unrequited love, beauty, and despair. Beautiful writing, compelling story, and a novel that will stay with you long after the final page. A must read.”
—Jennifer Rohrbach, Newtonville Books, Newton Centre, MA

Cleanness: A Novel
By Garth Greenwell
(Granta, 9781593765866, $15.95)
“Cleanness is a trance-inducing read. I started reading it, I couldn’t put it down, and before I knew it, hours had passed. Greenwell describes human relationships in such a beautiful way while also exploring issues of race, gender, identity, and desire.”
—Jennifer Rohrbach, Newtonville Books, Newton Centre, MA

Night Theater: A Novel
By Vikram Parulkar
(Farrar, 9780374124588, $26)
“Beautifully written in a narrative voice that is always moving and intricate as it were moving. This is a literary science fiction at its finest.”
—Matt Krexell, Flyleaf Books, Chapel Hill, NC

Imaginary Muse: Stories
By Nicolle Polack
(Soft Skull Press, 9780374278014, $27)
“The story’s power comes not just from its beautiful writing but the reality of its characters and the incisive nature of its setting. Liz Moore has created a masterpiece—so subtle that I can’t really figure out how she achieves these literary sleights of hand with such consistency: a one part magical realism here, a dash of unameded honesty there, stir in some gallows humor, and serve chilled.”
