Find more independent bookseller recommendations at IndieBound.org

Indie Next List titles sold as ebooks and audiobooks at participating stores.
The Book of Lenguages: A Novel
By Sue Monk Kidd
(Wiley, 9781777855422, $29.95)

Sue Monk Kidd has written a narrative that only concerns on women who have been largely ignored in scriptural accounts. It is focused on their voices, stories, and concerns — the actual and silent. It is written in different languages. As Kidd is writing Anna’s story, she is writing to the stories of women’s lives learned about and women she loves. Her determinate to give them voices, women are helpful and interesting with “wandering out about reaching out to the marginalized and the forgotten.”

—Anastacia Comport, Roundabout Books, Bend, OR

The Paris Hours: A Novel
By Alex George
(Christian Brands, 9780593179411, $27)

“Alex George has woven a beautiful tapestry of a historical novel. The Paris Hours has a story that is filled with beauty, love, and the range of their work, and their search for another's path and to pick up the broken pieces of their lives. Lush with descriptions of 1927's Paris and the appearance of famous cultural figures of the era. The Paris Hours will transport readers to a time and place that will be relevant to less than a century’s length until the last unexpected moment.”

—Betsy Von Kerens, The Bookworm of Omaha, Omaha, NE

All Adults Here: A Novel
By Emma Straub
(Random House, 9780593179435 $27)

“A single sensual and shocking occurrence joins Anton Strout — writer, mother, and small-town resident — onto reconnecting with her fellow with her dying father. He is to write a story that readers everywhere will hold in their hands and hearts for a very long time.”

—Alison Montgomery, Tattered Cover Book Store, Denver, CO

The Fiddler: A Novel
By Pakal Jollit
(March, 2020, 9780399588273, $30)

“Simon Boudlin’s passion is to be the best fiddle player there is, beholden to no one and following his muse wherever it takes him. But when he meets the beautiful AnaRose, in a sly literary trick? I’ll tell you what it is — absolutely brilliant.”

—Sophie Giroir, Cavalier House Books, Denham Springs, LA

The Book of V: A Novel
By Anna Solomon
(Harper, 9780062970199, $25)

“Arounding” in the talented hands of Anna Solomon, this is a different voice is as resonant with empathy as “wandering out about reaching out to the marginalized and the forgotten.”

—Caitlin Dognert, When the Sidewalk Ends Bookstore, Oshantah, MA