NEW IN POETRY

Anodyne
By Khadijah Queen
(9781947793804, trade paper, $15.95)
“Anodyne is an absolutely striking collection that brims with life. Many of the poems inspired visceral reactions from me, and the poems themselves are often concerned with visions and the body as a physical state. Queen reckons with her family’s history and her own place in it: a strange, revolutionary, work done by Bryancol in Letters and. Her work deals with the past, present, and future on equal measure simultaneously. She’s measured, the result and choice of [her] relations, and uses it as the skeleton of her writing, writing that will linger in the reader’s thoughts for months.”
—Meghana Kandlur, Seminary Co-op Bookstore, Chicago, IL

Every Day We Get More Illegal
By Juan Felipe Herrera
(9780872868281, trade paper, $14.95)
“Juan Felipe Herrera upholds and elevates the great ancestral lineage of our Mexican/Chicano world. The Border lives in this man. The Border(s) will never leave him. He is the son of soul anarchy, the lost stories of my America. He is the trickster magician who lifts the mirror to our faces and allows us to see truth. When he’s he walks into this great wakuh out of his, he tumble on the falsa world, do whi change us the Bebber Way. These poems are fierce and compassionate. His journey has served him well.”
—Denise Chávez, Casa Camino Real, Las Cruces, NM

How to Fly (In Ten Thousand Easy Lessons): Poetry
By Barbara Kingsolver
(9780062993083, $24.99)
“Kingsolver writes poetry that is both accessible and profound. This is the kind of collection you’ll loan out to a friend or relative and never get back. You should probably go ahead and buy two or three at all once!”
—Pat Cawiezell, Magic City Books, Tulsa, OK

Just Us: An American Conversation
By Claudia Rankine
(9781644450215, $30)
“Claudia Rankine really steps up the moment with this book. She invites readers to join in a conversation that helps us think about uncomfortable parts of American history. The poems, images, and images in this book allow for a conversation that opens your eyes and enriches your understanding of our time. Readers will be excited to pick up this wildly creative and powerful writing on race, difference, and politics in America.”
—Ayonn Turner, Source Bookellers, Detroit, MI

Make Me Rain: Poems & Prose
By Nikki Giovanni
(9780062995285, $19.99)
“I would not call myself a poetry reader, but there is something about Nikki Giovanni’s poetry that speaks to me so deeply. Sentimental and comforting, Make Me Rain covers a wide range of topics. From quilts and an imagined to the soul of change we so desperately need in our world. Giovanni’s wisdom and understanding go against so many stereotypes of a poetic power house, and I was the reader wanting to explore her past work again, too.”
—Beth Slay for Books, Bookmarks, Winston-Salem, NC

The Selected Works of Audre Lorde
By Audre Lorde, Roxane Gay (Ed.)
(9781324004615, trade paper, $16.95)
“This stellar selection of the wonderful Audre Lorde’s work is a must-have. These powerful words deserve a wider audience, and it is wonderful to me that Lorde’s work introduced to a new generation by the excellent Roxane Gay.”
—Christie Schaefer, Octavia Books, New Orleans, LA

We Keep the Dead Close: A Murder at Harvard and a Half Century of Silence
By Becky Cooper

“We are not going to cover that story. It’s pretty much an open secret, that was the big deal about it.”

---Antonia Budwig, Washington University Bookstore, St. Louis, MO

The Cold Millions: A Novel
By Jess Walter

"The greatest American novel of the past five years. And... it’s in paperback!"

---Michael Shook, The Old Eued Book, Patryne, NY

The Once and Future Witches: A Novel
By Alix E. Harrow

"A harrow The Ten Thousand Doors of January was my favorite book last year, so I had incredibly high expectations when I picked up The Once and Future Witches. This book is very different, but I love it just the same. I would definitely recommend it to anyone who enjoys a clever, well-crafted story with a bit of a twist."

---Amber Miller, West Side Bookshop, Salt Lake City, UT

Fortune Favors the Dead: A Novel
By Stephen Spotswood

"Not since Nero Wolfe and Archie Goodwin have I so enjoyed the page-turning sleuth set in a New York city of the 1930s. A delight from start to finish. Dare I hope this is the beginning of a series?"

---Phoebe Butcher, Books and Books, Coral Springs, FL

The Midnight Bargain: A Novel
By L.L. Peiri

"You should be for everyone who loves dark, twisty thrillers. This latest is no exception. In fact, she just keeps getting better and better! If you haven’t read her yet, start with Of Stranger Saved My Life."

---Deanna Bailey, Story on the Square, McDonough, GA

The Butcher’s Blessing: A Novel
By Ruth Franklin

"An extraordinary novel of quiet tension, filled with the clash of generations, beliefs, and ideals. A beautiful tale of the strife of traditions in a changing Ireland, woven with the threads of political strife."

---Lexi Beach, The Astoria Bookshop, Astoria, NY

The Office of Historical Corrections: A Novel and Stories
By Daniel Evans

"I have been holding this book for two days. It is the most perfect book I have read in 2020."

---Amy Stine, The Office of Historical Corrections, Providence, RI

The Once and Future Witches: A Novel
By Alix E. Harrow

"Alexa Knowles is a beautiful and haunting, modern and feminist reimagining of Japanese folklore and their stories. While it means its inspirations go deep, each of these engaging and offset stories feels entirely original. Quirky, spring, and chaming—loved it!"

---Lane Jacobs, Panache Springs Books, Sinters, OR

Invisible Girl: A Novel
By Lisa McFadyen

"Lisa Jewel has become one of my favorite female voices in fiction. Her words are always so beautifully crafted, and her characters are always so well-developed."

---Lora Lee, Brickside, Beavertown, OR

Ring Shot: A Novella
By P. D. James

"The emotionally charged, wild ride of Ring Shot by P. D. James was the best I ever read. It just didn’t want to end. Clark pulled me into the life of a monster hunter and his band of monster hunters and held me hostage. With beautiful language, deep characters, and an incredibly immersive world, this novella was a feast of vengeance and self-forgiveness unfolded."

---Scott Lang, The Bookshop, Grand Haven, MI
