The Blonde Identity: A Novel
By Ally Carter
(Avon, 9780063276659, $17.99, July 9, Romance)
“This wonderfully bonkers, deliciously slow-burning romance is marvelous! With witty banter, a grumpy spy and a sunshiny amnesiac, fake dating, oodles of feelings, and a beautiful narrative, Carter’s adult debut cannot be missed.”
—Lucy Perkins-Wagel, Blinking Owl Books, Arcadia, FL

How to Say Babylon: A Memoir
By Safiya Sinclair
(Simon & Schuster, 9781982132347, $18.99, July 9, Memoir)
“This extraordinary memoir explores self-actualization at the crossroads of womanhood and Black liberation. Sinclair’s poetic brilliance brought grace to even her most excruciating experiences. I am in awe of her compassion and transcendence.”
—Evisa Gallman, Uncle Bobbie’s Coffee & Books, Philadelphia, PA

Immortal Longings
By Chloe Gong
(S&S/Saga Press, 9781668000236, $18.99, July 9, Fantasy)
“In Immortal Longings, Chloe Gong takes inspiration from Shakespeare and builds a fully imagined and detailed world. Her ability to create places, characters, and intrigue is astonishing. This story will leave you breathless.”
—Calvin Crosby, The King’s English Bookshop, Salt Lake City, UT

Ink Blood Sister Scribe: A Novel
By Emma Törzs
(William Morrow, 9780063253476, $18.99, June 11, Fiction)
“There is magic of all kinds on each page of Ink Blood Sister Scribe: grisly body horror magic, romantic, confectionary fairy tale magic, and the binding, consuming magic of family and what it means to belong. I am still under its spell.”
—Sarah Jackson, The Book & Cover, Chattanooga, TN

The Librarianist: A Novel
By Patrick deWitt
(William Morrow, 9780062530518, $16.99, July 2, Fiction)
“A thoughtful book about a quiet man leading a quiet life, filled with wonderful language and small nuances. Bob Comet endured loneliness and heartbreak, but found solace in his books and ultimately found friendship and community.”
—Kathy Clemmons, Sundog Books, Santa Rosa Beach, FL

Tomorrow, and Tomorrow, and Tomorrow: A Novel
By Gabrielle Zevin
(Vintage, 9780593466490, $19, June 25, Fiction)
“I am deeply mourning finishing this book. Zevin has masterfully created a love story for friendship that will stay with me. While the characters were imperfect—so, strikingly human—following this span of 30 years left me wanting more.”
—Vina Castillo, Kew & Willow Books, Kew Gardens, NY

Indie Next List titles sold as ebooks and audiobooks at participating stores.

Your Next Great Read

Now in Paperback

© Courtesy of this bookstore
Same As It Ever Was: A Novel
By Claire Lombardo

“Unconsciously, this was absolutely brilliant. Lombardo writes human emotions and flaws incredibly. I can’t stop thinking about this book—it was smart, beautiful, and the most accurate depiction of a marriage I have ever read.”
—Dee Williams, Athena Books, Old Greenwich, CT

Sandwich: A Novel
By Catherine Newman

“Catherine Newman has perfected the art of making you laugh out loud, then just a sentence apart. This funny, tender story follows two family members’ weeklong vacation in Cape Cod. Newman has crafted a story rich with the complex vagaries and bone-deep loneliness of place away from home, and what it means to be a woman with desires and obligations. This made me consider what it’s like to be a ‘good’ person resonate. Her career Before, During, and After is truly unique.”
—Jo Swenson, Gibson’s Bookstore, Concord, NH

The Coin: A Novel
By Julia Phillips

“This beautiful book takes you on an emotional journey, following a profound friendship during the Korean War revolution. The plot is rich and the characters are captivating. Your heart will break and you will weep. Absolutely amazing.”
—Beth Bissmeyer, Carmichael’s Bookstore, Louisville, KY

Bury Your Gays
By Chuck Tingle

“Unsettling, perfectly paced, and nothing short of brilliant. Juv makes this story highlights the monsters thatapan is life and corporate greed go hand in hand. You will be shocked, broken, and you will understand Tingle’s mantra — Love Is Real.”
—Ashleigh, Secret Garden Bookshop, Seattle, WA

Devil Is Fine: A Novel
By John Vercher

“I hold my breath while reading Devil Is Fine, struck by the altered language of everything unfolding. Vercher delves into the weight of grief, racism, individuality, familial, and communal. Together, he weaves a tale into a novel that also explores human and humanity.”
—Stephanie Jones Byrne, Malaprop’s Bookstore/Café, Asheville, NC

The Heart in Winter: A Novel
By Kevin Barry

“I found this story of two young lovers on the run in 1980s Montana to be one of the most original McCarthy novels, and the adventure and peril set in Cold Mountain. I expect this stunning novel to stay with me for a long time.”
—Linda Green, Reasonable Books, Lafayette, CA

The Lion Women of Tehran: A Novel
By Marjan Kamali

“This beautiful book takes you on an emotional journey, following a profound friendship during the Iranian revolution. The plot is rich and the characters are captivating. Your heart will break and you will weep. Absolutely amazing.”
—Sarah Dupriest, Rainy Day Books, Fairway, KS

The Last Songs of Zan: Stories
By Suzi Ehtesham-Zadeh

“This collection of stories puts in the heart of Iranian women’s lives. Beautifully written, tragedy captivated — there is much to learn from stories like these.”
—Matt Aragon, Shafi, West Side Books, Denver, CO

Masquerade
By O. O. Sangoyomi

“I love this national novel that is a beach read of African west epigene. Epic in feel but self-contained, it runs the full range of emotions to interpret creativity and descriptive writing, with John Folks.”
—Jamie Southern, BooksByDesign, Winston Salem, NC

The Night Ends With Fire
By K. X. Song

“Unsettling, odd, sometimes campy, sometimes bruisingly honest. Here is a world of warped reality where the ‘90s film. When you think you know the creation and aftermath of a ‘good’ person resonate. Her career Before, During, and After is truly unique.”
—Ally Sparks, Doodahs Bookshop, Nashville, TN

The Same Bright Stars: A Novel
By Ethan Joella

“With insight, empathy, and humor, Ethan Joella puts you into the hearts and minds of the complex, fully-formed characters. In The Same Bright Stars, Joella takes the ever-day turn and turns into something poignant and extraordinary.”
—Samantha Foote, Brownwoods Book, Rehoboth Beach, DE

The God of the Woods: A Novel
By Liz Moore

“This beautiful book takes you on an emotional journey, following a profound friendship during the Iranian revolution. The plot is rich and the characters are captivating. Your heart will break and you will weep. Absolutely amazing.”
—Jamie Southern, BooksByDesign, Winston Salem, NC

The Woman Who Kept Time: A Novel
By Sarah Beth Durst

“Absolutely breathtaking.”
—Carrie Deming, The Dog Eared Book, Palmyra, NY

The God of the Woods
By Liz Moore

“Moore is on another level. A great book that I can’t stop thinking about this book—it was smart, beautiful, and the most accurate depiction of a marriage I have ever read.”
—Dee Williams, Athena Books, Old Greenwich, CT

Not Another Love Song
By Julie Soto

“Oh. My. Gosh. This book is absolutely fantastic. If you love a love story, this is the one for you. I love the way Soto writes characters that you can trust, and everyone has something to hide. A missing person case that you will not let go of.”
—McKenna Jones, Anderson’s Bookshops, Naperville, IL

The God of the Woods
By Liz Moore

“Moore is on another level. A great book that I can’t stop thinking about this book—it was smart, beautiful, and the most accurate depiction of a marriage I have ever read.”
—Dee Williams, Athena Books, Old Greenwich, CT

The Coin: A Novel
By Julia Phillips

“This beautiful book takes you on an emotional journey, following a profound friendship during the Korean War revolution. The plot is rich and the characters are captivating. Your heart will break and you will weep. Absolutely amazing.”
—Sarah Dupriest, Rainy Day Books, Fairway, KS